Dear parishioners,

Tuesday morning, the Vatican put forth new directives to the Church on the issue of cremation. Before I explain the document, I think it would be helpful to offer a paradigm shift. Many people approach this as an issue of "right" vs. "wrong." I don't think that's a helpful paradigm to examine how we bury the dead.

The question that we should ask as Roman Catholics is, "Does this proclaim the resurrection of Jesus from the dead, or does it not?" That is what matters because that is why we offer funerals in the first place. Funerals are more than memorial tributes for a nice person. More than anything else, our funeral rites are about proclaiming the resurrection of Jesus. As you plan funerals, whether it be your own or somebody else's, please remember that guiding principle.

So the question, then, is does cremation proclaim the resurrection of the body? The answer the Church gives is basically, yes, it can, but not as clearly as a full body burial. As for cremation, the document says, "The Church raises no doctrinal objections to this practice, since cremation of the deceased's body does not affect his or her soul, nor does it prevent God, in his omnipotence, from raising up the deceased body to new life. Thus cremation, in and of itself, objectively negates neither the Christian doctrine of the soul's immortality nor that of the resurrection of the body."

However, she also states, "The Church continues to prefer the practice of burying the bodies of the deceased, because this shows a greater esteem towards the deceased. Nevertheless, cremation is not prohibited, 'unless it was chosen for reasons contrary to Christian doctrine.'"

That being said, what happens after cremation is where we see some controversial practices that often fail to proclaim the resurrection and this is where the directives become very direct in their wording. One practice that fails to proclaim the resurrection is scattering ashes, and another is keeping the ashes in private places, like a home. These are forbidden in these new directives, and we will not permit this practice at any of our parishes in the county.

Please know that for the Catholic faithful, the body is a temple of the Holy Spirit. The human body is the place where God has chosen to dwell in the world. Furthermore, God's plan is for our bodies to be raised at the second coming. We do not become angels when we die. God's plan is for our bodies to be raised. This means our bodies are holy and sacred, even after death, and if we really believe what our faith teaches us, we must recognize this fact and proclaim it during our funerals.

Scattering ashes does not acknowledge the sanctity a person's remains. Even if a particular location has a special subjective significance for a couple of members of the faithful, it lacks the objective meaning that nourishes the faith of all the faithful and this is very important.

My mother and father's first child died shortly after a premature delivery. My brother, Christopher, is buried at a Catholic cemetery outside of Seattle in a special place with other infants. When I visit his grave I always look at the other names of the babies buried there, and I feel my own faith strengthened. First of all, I know that my family and I are not the only people who have experienced loss. I also know that my family and I are not the only people who believe God will raise up my brother so our family can be reunited one day. The very fact that other families have professed their faith through these burials increases my hope and faith and reminds me to pray for these families.

Scattering ashes makes the death of a loved one a very private thing. But remember, our prayers for the dead and our tradition of burying the dead in cemeteries proclaims the resurrection. It proclaims hope to all those grieving loss. Do not request to have your ashes scattered, and if a Catholic family member or friend has requested to have their ashes scattered, please share this with them. I will write more on this soon.

FROM A HEART OF GRATITUDE
WE SHARE OUR TIME • TALENT • TREASURE

It is at this time of year, that we are asked to think about our stewardship of all those gifts that God has placed in our trust. Not just how we are taking care of those gifts, but how we are sharing those gifts with our parish and our community. In the coming weeks we will be asked to consider if we are returning a proper of those gifts to the Lord through His instrument on earth, the Church, for the building up of His Kingdom.

WORLD MISSION SUNDAY

THANK YOU for your generous response to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith last weekend on World Mission Sunday. Our parish raised $ (insert amount). While some go to serve in other countries to develop the Church and serve its people, all of us are called to pray and support the Missions from right where we live. To continue answering this call, download the Mission App which makes it possible for you to meet and support religious Sisters and Brothers, priests and dedicated lay leaders who provide help and hope in some of the world's poorest places. These missionaries provide essential education and health care, social outreach and advocacy, and pastoral service. They address basic human needs, while in every moment offering spiritual comfort and support to the suffering and the marginalized. 30. Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario — Ciclo C—

Lucas 18, 9-14: "¿A quién nos parecemos más, al fariseo o al publicano?"

En este domingo, el Señor nos enseña que la oración que a Dios maravilla no es un cartel de promoción; es ponerse de rodillas y mostrar lo que hay en el corazón. Nuestra cultura no suele ayudar a que valoremos la humildad y la sencillez. Al contrario, la sociedad actual aplaude al que alardea de sus virtudes y a los que se muestran superiores a los demás. Pero Jesús nos pide humildad de corazón. Esa humildad que no alardea de las propias virtudes, pero tampoco las esconde. El humilde es el que reconoce lo que sabe hacer y es capaz de ponerlo al servicio de los demás. Los dos hombres, el fariseo y el publicano, suben al Templo a orar. Conviene entonces contemplar cómo hacían oración esto dos hombres. El fariseo, oraba de pie, en actitud erguida, no en actitud corporal humilde. En lugar de alabar a Dios o pedir perdón por sus pecados, dedica el tiempo de oración a alabarse a sí mismo y a despreñar al otro que estaba con él en el Templo. En lugar de sentirse unido al publicano se separaba cada vez más de él en su interior. El fariseo de la parábola es una cachetada para el que se tiene por justo y desprecia a los demás. Es la imagen de una dimensión de soberbia que tenemos dentro absolutamente todos. Todos alguna vez buscamos alabarnos a nosotros mismos. Todos alguna vez, nos comparamos con otro para despreñarlo. Pero Gracias a Dios, y felizmente, también tenemos adentro al publicano. Ese publicano que no se atreve a alzar los ojos al cielo. A ese publicano que ora con humildad. A ese publicano que se humilla y reconoce con sus palabras su pecado y pide misericordia a Dios. El fariseo parece esperar que Dios le diga: Te felicito. Sólo necesita que Dios intervenga para premiarlo. El fariseo no le deja lugar a Dios. Y Dios lo deja ir del templo tal como había venido. Llegó al Templo con una santidad que él mismo había fabricado. No se dió cuenta que en su interior llevaba una pesada carga de pecado. El publicano, en cambio se encomienda a la misericordia de Dios. Pide a Dios que Él actúe, que le tenga piedad. Se reconoció pecador. Y como le dejó espacio a Dios, El Señor actuó. Y este publicano volvió a su casa cambiado. Se llevó de regalo una santidad, que no se había fabricado él mismo, sino que le concedió Dios. Cada uno de nosotros tenemos dentro a los dos, a nuestro fariseo y a nuestro publicano, los dos son imagen de nuestro propio ser. Lo importante es que prevalezca en nosotros el publicano (pecador), pero humilde, en lugar del soberbio fariseo. No importa el pecado que hayamos cometido. La medida del perdón que Dios nos concede, depende de la humildad del arrepentimiento. Hasta el pecado que objetivamente es algo malo, puede ser un bien si nos hace crecer en humildad, si nos hace ver nuestros límites y destruye nuestra fantasía de omnipotencia. Nuestra naturaleza es débil y es fácil que caigamos en el pecado. Pero cuando en nosotros surge ese publicano humilde que se humilla ante Dios, ese mismo pecado nos sirve para fortalecernos. Dios concede una gran fortaleza al corazón arrepentido y humillado. La humillación que sigue al pecado es fuente de fortaleza espiritual. Por eso hoy vamos a pedirle al Señor ser auténticos, no pintarnos unretrato.... de nosotros mismo. Dios nos conoce, a él no podemos engañarlo. La verdadera sabiduría consiste en apreciarnos como somos y vivir de acuerdo con eso que apreciamos en nosotros. Pidámosle hoy a María ser a ejemplo suyo humildes, y que esa humildad de reconocer nuestras propias limitaciones, nos lleve a apoyarnos sólo en Dios.

Corresponsables de Dios.

¿Cuáles son las características más importantes de un buen Corresponsable?

1. Recibir los dones de Dios con actitud de agradecimiento.
2. Cultivar los dones de manera responsable.
3. Compartir los dones de Dios en amor y en justicia.
4. Regresar a Dios los dones en mayor proporción.
