Letting Christ Love Me, Unpleasantly

Peter said to him, "You will never wash my feet." Jesus answered him, "Unless I wash you, you will have no inheritance with me." — John 13:8

I heard a homily the other day in which the preacher said, "Let's ask for the grace to serve Christ in others and allow others to serve Christ in us." I was taken by that last point, allowing others to serve Christ in us. It made me think of how difficult it can be for those who commit their lives untiringly to the service of others to allow others to serve them; or to serve with them. One somewhat related example came to mind. The details of the story has been sufficiently altered to make identification of those involved impossible.

When I was living on the East coast, I once served alongside a woman who was selfless to the extreme. It was a privilege to work with her and learn from her sacrificial approach to life. She's one of those people who never seems to tire and who forgets to eat because she's too busy feeding other people. During the time that I worked with her, she gained a very powerful insight into herself that she graciously agreed to allow me to share in my teaching work. Once she came to "vent" to me about another person who was asked to help her lead a service committee project. She was frustrated with this other person's need to "control" the project, to be involved in every decision and be present for everything. As we talked through her anger, it became clearer to her that what was really at stake was not just a conflict over control but a conflict over appearance and efficiency.

She realized that she was so used to being the front person in everything she set her mind to — giving excessively of her time and energy so, in effect, no one could compete — that the idea that someone else might steal some of that "most giving" spotlight from her was, deep down, very threatening. That's a tough thing to admit, and I was deeply moved by her sincerity in being willing to face this struggle so candidly. She also said that, truth be told, she was far more efficient than this other person and could get the job done much faster without them. We explored this point a bit, and she again admitted that the deeper issue seemed to be not just efficiency but working with someone that rubbed her the wrong way. We talked about the fact that for a Christian, work is never simply about efficiency, but is also about learning to love others by means of a common task that requires mutual dependence and challenging collaboration. I mentioned that I loved the fact that in the Gospels Christ seemed to intentionally choose for his disciples people who were not at all naturally comfortable with each other, and he challenged them to become a model community of reconciled humanity.

We also came to a common insight that real love, tough virtue, costly grace can only be had when we learn to love Christ in others and learn to be loved by Christ through others. Christ appears above all in the midst of relationships, especially the tattered, yucky, unpleasant, ragged-edged ones that make our spirits sweat.

I later thought and noted in my journal: Selflessness without a love that is genuinely about every neighbor, and not just the pleasant or agreeable ones, can easily become cleverly disguised selfishness. I also thought of my professor, Dr. Germain Grisez's, pithy point: "One should not be pressed by enthusiasm or impatience to act individually for basic human goods." Even if the "products" of our labors (e.g. a successful event, a clean house) are less refined or more laborious, the dirty collaborative process of creating that product, especially with an un-chosen neighbor, can, in many ways, be the far more important product.

IV Domingo de Cuaresma—Ciclo B

11 de Marzo del 2018

Juan 3,14-21

En aquel tiempo, Jesús dijo a Nicodemo: "Así como Moisés levantó la serpiente en el desierto, así tiene que ser levantado el Hijo del hombre, para que todo el que crea en él tenga vida eterna.

Porque tanto amó Dios al mundo, que le entregó a su Hijo único, para que todo el que crea en él no perezca, sino que tenga vida eterna. Porque Dios no envió a su Hijo para condenar al mundo, sino para que el mundo se salvara por él. El que cree en él no será condenado, pero el que no cree ya está condenado por no haber creído en el Hijo único de Dios.

La causa de la condenación es ésta: habiendo venido la luz al mundo, los hombres prefirieron las tinieblas a la luz, porque sus obras eran malas. Todo aquel que hace el mal, aborrece la luz y no se acerca a ella, para que sus obras no se descubran. En cambio, el que obra el bien conforme a la verdad, se acerca a la luz, para que se vea que sus obras están hechas según Dios.

Meditación

En el evangelio de hoy vemos que Jesús se encuentra con un fariseo llamado Nicodemo y éste es quien busca a Jesús, presiente que Jesús viene de Dios.

Nicodemo pueden ser todas aquellas personas que buscan de corazón a Jesús, y llegan a encontrarlo, por ello en la narración del evangelista aparece Jesús con un largo mensaje, donde nos invita a vivir buscando la luz y alejándonos de la oscuridad.

Jesús dice que «Dios amó tanto al mundo que entregó a su Hijo para que todos nos salvemos y tengamos vida eterna».

Estamos tan acostumbrados a vivir estresados, a presumir de fe y de amor, que no caemos en la cuenta que la mayoría de las veces lo que hacemos es simplemente una rutina, porque creer en Jesús es poner nuestra mirada en Él en los momentos buenos, pero también en los difíciles y duros, porque si miramos hacia Él nuestra vida será realmente luz. Jesús nos manda continuamente señales de amor, de vida y también de esperanza.

Cuando veamos a Cristo en la cruz no pensemos que ha terminado su amor, que ya no puede abrazar, ni acoger. Recordemos que el Padre sigue con sus brazos extendidos para acoger, mecer, abrazar y sostener a todos a aquellos que lo necesiten.

Dios ha mandado su Hijo al mundo para que todos podamos acogernos a su amor, nadie nos lo impone, es un acto voluntario, nosotros tenemos que tomar la decisión en libertad, pero cada vez más personas rechazan la luz que viene de Jesús muerto en la cruz y resucitado.

Pensemos si buscamos la luz en nuestra vida o nos escondemos en la oscuridad.

Te invitamos al grupo de la "Legion de María", todos los miércoles a las 5:00 pm en el salón del Padre Mulligan (frente a la escuela), para cualquier información llama a Gená Griffin al tel. 360 431 6282

March for our lives will take the streets of Washington DC and many cities throughout the US to demand that their lives and safety become a priority and that we end gun violence and mass shootings in our schools today. March for our lives is created by, inspired by, and led by students across the country who will no longer risk their lives waiting for someone else to take action to stop the epidemic of mass school shootings that has become all too familiar. In the tragic wake of the seventeen lives brutally cut short in Florida, politicians are telling us that now is not the time to talk about guns. March for our lives believes the time is now.
